

REFLECTION NOTE

What did I build?

I built Bizconnect, a local SME directory and business hub that helps users find restaurants, fashion stores, and salons, in Port Harcourt and Bonny Island.

What problem does it solve?

The project solves the problem of low business visibility by making local businesses easier to discover online.

What did I learn?

Through this project, I learned frontend development, responsive web design, data organization, and how to work with business listings and maps.

What challenge did I face?

One challenge I faced was gathering accurate business information and organizing it effectively.

How does this project support my next opportunity?

This project strengthens my portfolio and prepares me for future opportunities in web development.
